

BAKER HALL
Residence for War Blinded

Toronto ' ' ' 1944 - 1950

IT HAS GIVEN me much pleasure to prepare this Booklet to recall and to pay tribute to the many people who have helped us achieve our aim of making Baker Hall a place where our family could find happiness, peace, security and wise guidance. We all agree that the stimulating effect of shared study and shared social activities has helped to make us a family, and Baker Hall a home.

It would be impossible to name all the people who have made a contribution to our life there. We must content ourselves with paying tribute to groups and individuals who have served continuously over a long period.

I am sending out this Booklet with the hope that it will remind all our Baker Hall boys of the many friends they made while living there . . . that it will bring to their minds the many happy times . . . the ordinary every day happenings . . . the stag nights, the dances, the picnics, the Christmas parties and the weddings.

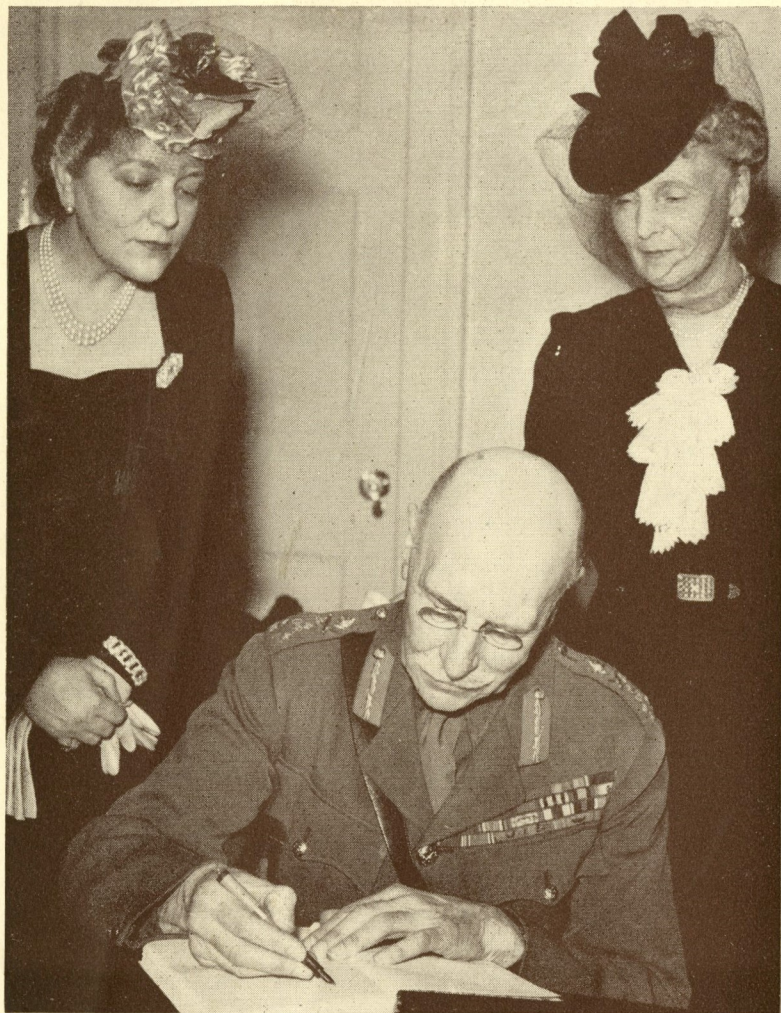

It is not necessary to remind any of you how interested we shall always be in where you are, and what you are doing. We shall continue to watch your careers with the same joy in your progress.

For myself, I shall always remember and cherish my associations with the War Blinded, the Committee, the Staff and the volunteers, the oneness of purpose and understanding that permitted us to achieve our aims.

Blessings on you all,

June, 1950.

Baker Hall was purchased in the fall of 1943 by Lady Kemp, remodelled and furnished by Lady Kemp's daughter, Katherine. On March 23rd, 1944, His Excellency the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of Canada, accompanied by Her Royal Highness, Princess Alice, formally presented it to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

To Lady Kemp we pay special tribute for making our gracious way of living possible, and for continuing to show her interest from the beginning to the end, in all that concerned our Family.

whose name Baker Hall is honoured to bear and whose experience of blindness, sympathetic understanding, advice and courageous spirit, have been our constant guide and inspiration.

In the beginning, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind set up a War-Blinded Training Committee with Mr. Harris Turner as the first Chairman. On Mr. Turner's retirement, Col. Baker became Chairman. On this Committee sat the Chairman of the Baker Hall House Committee and the heads of The C.N.I.B. Departments specially concerned with the training and future employment of the War Blinded.

IN 1943, upon the request of the Women's Auxiliary to The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Miss Elsinore C. Burns assumed the chairmanship of the committee whose responsibility it was to see that life at Baker Hall should complement and round out the formal training received daily by the boys at Pearson Hall, 186 Beverley Street.

The major expenses for the operation of the residence have been met by the Department of Veterans' Affairs as a matter of training responsibility. Special comforts, entertainment and much hospitality, have been extended by friends.

The happy working out of the responsibility undertaken is largely due to the thoughtfulness, real kindness and faithfulness of this Baker Hall House Committee:—

In 1945, The Women's Auxiliary appointed Miss Clara Sutherland in charge of all Hospital Visiting of War Blinded Veterans. As many of our Baker Hall family had to go into hospital from time to time, it was the greatest satisfaction to know that our boys were so well looked after. We shall never forget the happiness and comfort that Miss Sutherland and her committee brought to "our boys" while in hospital.

Both the Baker Hall House Committee and the Hospital Visiting Committee received great assistance from Capt. F. J. L. Woodcock, Liaison Officer between The Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the War Blinded. One of his special responsibilities was assisting with personal problems and after-care arrangements.

The Staff sensed the warmth of friendliness and gave of their work and time, even beyond their obligations, to make Baker Hall a home.

The House Mothers, with ready counsel, guidance and hospitality, made welcome each of her household and his friends.

TO THE STAG NIGHT COMMITTEE

. . . which had its origin in the evenings planned, prepared and conducted in 1945 by Mr. Hamilton Brown for the Baker Hall boys. Shortly, Mr. Hunter Bishop, Mr. Wilfred C. James and his sons, Charles and George, joined forces with Mr. Brown. Regular weekly programmes of outstanding speakers, musicians and radio quiz-masters were established for all war blinded in residence and out. Later, when Mr. Brown was forced to retire because of ill health, Mr. James assisted by Mr. Bishop took over the responsibility and has carried on the evenings for the past three years.

. . . These evenings have been highlights of enjoyment, stimulation and great benefit.

... A SINCERE TRIBUTE OF THANKS AND APPRECIATION

goes to the following volunteer organizations.

THE CANADIAN RED CROSS CORPS,

... who were on duty at Baker Hall from the Opening Day in March, 1944, to the end of June, 1950. At the beginning, the four sections of the Corps were represented—V.A.D.'s, Food Administration, Transport, and Office Administration. Shortly after war's ending, the sections ceased to be and the Corps served as one unit. In recognition of the fact that the Red Cross Corps was the only organization which served continuously throughout, we are quoting from an article written by one of the V.A.D.'s for the Red Cross Corps magazine.

THE CORPS "EN CORPS," MAY, 1950

"The last of the boys at Baker Hall are going home, and Baker Hall as a residence for blinded servicemen is closing. Ever since it was opened early in 1944, it has been their home while they have been completing their training and preparing for their return to civilian life.

"Such a beautiful house and so full of memories! I'm sure that all the V.A.D.'s who have been on duty there feel, as I do, that it was never really a duty, but rather a pleasure, to spend a few hours there.

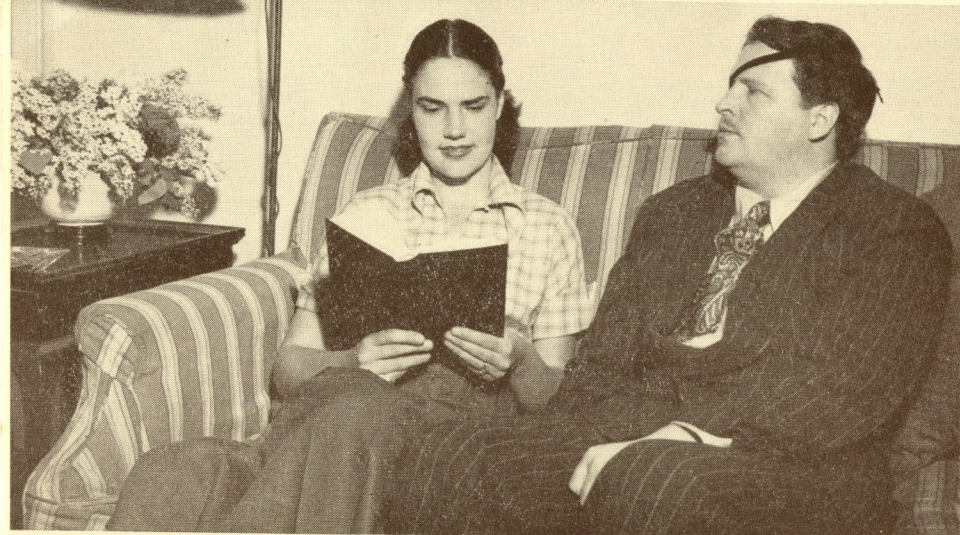

"I remember so well the first Saturday afternoon when Johnny, Maurice and Joe moved in. How glad they were to find the V.A.D.'s they already knew, there to show them around and get them used to their new home.

"Since that day back in 1944, many boys have come and gone and although, perhaps, we do not see them often, we think of them and hope they are well and happy, and, perhaps, think of us. We remember the cribbage games, the shopping trips, dancing lessons, the parties, tea in the garden, and most of all the happy weddings in this house. We had quite an interest in the weddings, as several of the boys married Red Cross girls.

"We remember especially, the lads who will not be coming back to see us—ever—and we are sad. They were our friends and we miss them.

"In the past six years, many Red Cross girls have helped in the residence, and all have enjoyed working there very much. I'm just sorry that they could not all have been at the party given for them by the boys several weeks ago, (May, 1950). They were such good hosts and served the refreshments and were all dressed in Red Cross caps and aprons.

"We realize all this house has meant to the boys, and we are proud and happy that we have been able to lend a hand."

Junior League reader Mrs. Goodwin Jones, Jr., and Harry M. Coyle.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE OF TORONTO

came to the Hall in 1946 to fill a most important need. They provided readers each day for our students at University—in many cases, the League member has read to the same student throughout his three-year course.

THE ST. ALBANS GIRLS' CLUB, with the same willingness to give of their best, provided guides and readers from 1946 - 1950.

THE ARTHUR MURRAY SCHOOL OF DANCING

gave the boys lessons each week. Not only was the school generous, but the Teachers, of their own accord, gave much extra time in helping the lads to learn all the new steps as well as to regain confidence and poise.

THE TORONTO MUSICIANS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION

sent their musicians to provide Sunday afternoon concerts. Their top-notch orchestras added zest and enjoyment to Baker Hall dances.

GROUPS AND CLUBS

who presented radios for the residence and so afforded the residents an inexhaustible supply of amusement and kept them up with current events.

OUR HONOUR ROLL

. . . comprises these and a list of others so long that all cannot be mentioned. The story it tells is a thrilling one.

of INDIVIDUALS belonging to no organization, who came regularly and read, giving most generously of their time and ability.

of TEA HOSTESSES who came each afternoon to assist the member of the House Committee, lending homelike graciousness to the tea hour.

of GOOD NEIGHBOURS who sent fruit, flowers, cakes, cigarettes and sweets.

of MUSICIANS who played and sang and of many other un-forgotten kindnesses, all of which added much to the happiness of our household.

of TED READ, who came in April, 1944, and continued until June, 1950, to give a helping hand and to do anything in any way, for any of the boys.

of HUNTER BISHOP, who came to join us in April, 1945, and who has continued to help us in every way possible.

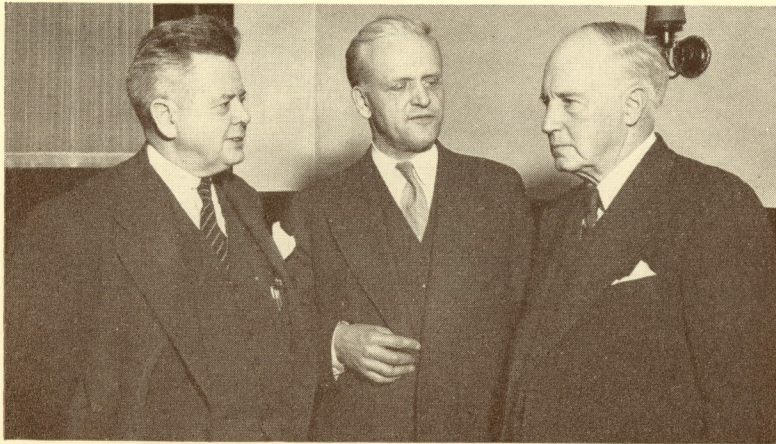

of MR. P. LEONE, SR., who set up an improvised Barber Shop in the residence, and gave his Sundays in the service of the boys from 1945 to 1948. Aside from cutting and trimming the boys' hair, Mr. Leone provided many happy moments for "his Clients."

of DON SUTHERLAND AND BRYCE JONES, University students who lived at Baker Hall and served in the capacity of friends and counsellors.

ALL OF THESE VOLUNTEERS

. . . carry in their hearts the knowledge of our appreciation, and feel, as we do, that they were greatly privileged to have been able to play a part, however small, in our life at Baker Hall.

GUEST SPEAKERS
AT THE LAST STAG NIGHT

Sir Ernest MacMillan, Col. Baker, The Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

Jimmie Hunter and his bride leave Baker Hall, June 1949.

In presenting BAKER HALL
as a residence to
The Canadian National Institute for the Blind

Lady Kemp's first concern was to serve the war blinded of World War II. This aim has been achieved over a period of six years and four months.

Now with the War Blinded moved out, their training completed, Baker Hall for the next year will serve as a Training Centre for Home Teachers, who, themselves blind, will carry the training of the Institute to other blind civilians in their homes across Canada.

TRAINING THE WAR BLINDED

By S. A. SAUNDERS, Ph.D.

So many of our friends have wondered what the boys did each day after they left Baker Hall at 8.45 a.m., that we append this story by Dr. Saunders, Director of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind Training Centre.

THE Canadian National Institute for the Blind undertook, on behalf of the Dominion Government, the training of the war blinded, and established at Pearson Hall, Toronto, its national headquarters, a training centre to which blinded veterans from all parts of the Dominion, however remote, are brought for rehabilitation. The objectives are: to equip each veteran with the tools that will best enable him to cope with the handicap of blindness; to train him in the art of substituting touch and hearing for the sense of sight; to give him the elements of any subjects he may need for his future work or specialized training; to enable him to handle himself under all social conditions in such a manner as to make his blindness least conspicuous; to assist him to accept his blindness philosophically; to guide him in his choice of an occupation. The training is adapted to the needs of the trainee, and all available technical skills and services are at the trainee's disposal, whether those skills and services are provided within the Institute or must be sought elsewhere.

Every blind person needs Braille and Typewriting to give him a feeling of self-reliance as well as to provide him with useful tools. All trainees are given a course in these two subjects. They are carried in typewriting to the point where they can manage their own personal and business correspondence; and, in Braille, to the point where they can read with continuity. Nearly every person who goes blind experiences difficulty with spelling, and, almost without exception, the trainees are given, and enjoy, a course in spelling. To give the blind trainee a sense of achievement by being able to make things, and to train him in spatial relations and in touch and manual dexterity, instruction is given in a variety of handicrafts; and, to carry this process farther, most of the boys take a course in woodworking. In January, 1946, a course in weaving on the treadle loom was established, open to those who showed special aptitude and special interest. This is the only course in handicrafts given in the War-Blinded Training Centre, where the fundamental purpose is to equip a trainee to make his living at the craft taught. A blind veteran of the First World War instructs the boys in self-navigation, in the art of using the white cane, in getting on and off buses and street cars, and in getting into and out of buildings.

Many other subjects have been taught in the War Blinded Training Department: French, German, Spanish, Latin, Mathematics, English and History. To assist the trainees to develop the art of listening and discussion, a regular course is given in Current Events, material being drawn principally from the daily newspapers and current periodicals. Until June, 1947, trainees were prepared for University entrance by the Ontario Training and Re-Establishment Institute. After that date, training for University entrance was taken over by The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and made an integral part of the War Blinded Training programme. To the present, seven trainees have entered University: five have been graduated, one of whom earned the Prince of Wales Gold Medal for standing first in the Pass Course in Victoria College; one has completed his second year and one has completed his first year. Of the five graduates two are continuing with post-graduate studies. To meet the special needs of some students, reading courses have been arranged in agriculture, pigeon farming and physiotherapy; and special training, arranged through other organizations, has been given in salesmanship, elocution and public speaking. A considerable number of the boys have been given music lessons. No less than eight have taken the course in upholstery offered by the Ryerson Institute, and one has taken the course in wood finishing. Several have availed themselves of the short course in poultry-raising offered by the Ontario Agricultural College.

Much across-the-desk training is given in attitudes, outlook and special techniques; and all the resources of the Institute are brought to bear upon the problem of assisting the trainee to choose a field of work in which to make a new beginning.
