Pacific Holiday

At Vancouver you stand at the gate of adventure . . . . Perhaps you will set out across the Pacific to Hawaii, Australia, the Orient . . . . Perhaps you will stay close to the North American shore . . . . sailing to Prince Rupert and Alaska and the Yukon . . . . through the Strait of Georgia, with the mountains rising along the east and on the west the sweep of the ocean stayed by the great barrier of Vancouver Island . . . . out across Queen Charlotte Sound and then snug again in your protected channel . . . . a sea voyage without seasickness . . . . with islands popping up all round the deck . . . . and fjords . . . . and glaciers pouring down in rivers of gleaming ice . . . . a sea voyage that leads to strange places . . . . to the land of the Midnight Sun and the Gold Rush of '98 and the Totem Poles . . . . Perhaps you will make the Triangle Tour . . . . by steamer to Prince Rupert, along the Skeena and through the mountains by rail to Jasper National Park, through the mountains and along the Fraser back to Vancouver . . . . or do it in the reverse order . . . . Perhaps you will just stay put . . . . and you couldn't choose a better place than Vancouver for staying put in the summer . . . . The city itself is a charming and hospitable hostess . . . . the sea is gracious at English Bay . . . . you can spend pleasant hours in Stanley Park or on the other side of the Inlet . . . . Grouse Mountain . . . . And of course you will want to cross the Strait of Georgia . . . . a short but pleasant sea voyage . . . . to Vancouver Island . . . . to the beautiful capital city of Victoria . . . . to the mountains and forests and sunlit valleys and the seaside resorts . . . . The Pacific Coast was made for play.

Mountain Trails

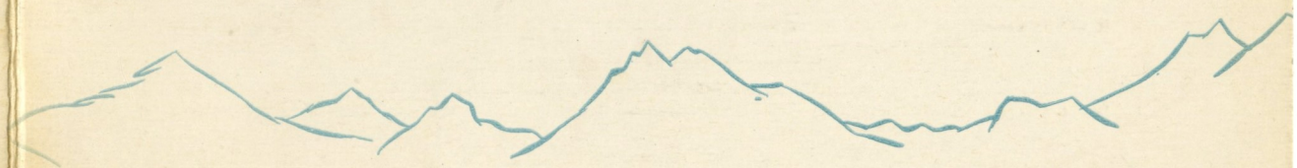

It isn't fair to the Rockies just to whisk through them on the way to somewhere else . . . . And it isn't fair to you . . . . To know the mountains, you must stay awhile . . . . if only for a few days . . . . Sleep through a cool mountain night and wake up in a morning as fresh as the first day of Creation . . . . Go for a stroll . . . . or, better still, for a long hike . . . . over trails carpeted with fragrant spruce needles . . . . Get into the saddle of one of those surefooted western ponies and ride for miles . . . . Climb a mountain on horseback . . . . Have your lunch above timberline, looking down over a wide new world . . . . In Jasper National Park there are hundreds of miles of trails . . . . 200 miles of smooth motor highways . . . . One of them runs through the Athabaska Valley and out to the Columbia Icefield, 75 miles away . . . . a wonderland of massive mountains armored in perpetual snow and ice . . . . Maligne Lake is another marvel . . . . And if you like fishing! . . . . There are other ways to enjoy the mountains, too . . . . Golf, tennis, swimming, canoeing, hunting wild animals with your camera . . . . bears, deer, moose, mountain sheep and goats . . . . or simply relaxing . . . . Jasper Park Lodge has all the comforts . . . . and luxuries . . . . of a modern city hotel . . . . without looking like one . . . . Its handsome log bungalows are as natural as the lovely lake at their feet, as the mountain slopes all around them . . . . They are at home . . . . and so will you be!

A Nation's Capital

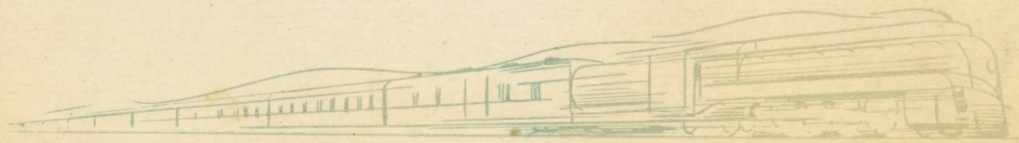

When Colonel By of the Royal Engineers was building the Rideau Canal he established his headquarters on the banks of the Ottawa River . . . . In his honor the place became known as Bytown . . . . For nearly three decades it was Bytown and not much more impressive than its name . . . . In 1854 the name was changed to Ottawa . . . . Four years later Queen Victoria made it the seat of Government . . . . thus disposing of the rival claims of Montreal, Quebec, Toronto and Kingston . . . . In 1867 the Dominion of Canada was created and Ottawa became its capital . . . . Who could have foretold, in 1826, that insignificant Bytown would rise to be one of the great cities of the world? . . . . From Ottawa is steered a nation of 12,000,000 . . . . There the Governor-General resides . . . . there Parliament meets . . . . there are situated the National Archives, the National Gallery, the Royal Mint, the Royal Observatory . . . . Chateau Laurier, one of the finest hotels on the continent . . . . With its lofty Gothic towers, its greenswards and its gardens along the river and the canal, Ottawa is a beautiful city, its appearance in keeping with its importance and its dignity . . . . Ottawa is a quiet city on the surface . . . . fuss and fume are not in its nature . . . . yet underneath its calm there is ceaseless activity . . . . Directing the affairs of the Dominion of Canada, at home and abroad, is a tremendous task, even in times of peace . . . . And today the nation is at war.

Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, Ont.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Salute

TO
CANADA'S FIGHTING SERVICES

Today, more than six hundred thousand of the young men and women of Canada are poised upon the battle fronts of Democracy. They represent the flower of our youth and the hope of this Nation's future.

In the air, at sea, on the bullet-swept beaches of Dieppe, the war-torn hillsides of Hong Hong and in North Africa, some of them have met the enemy with honor to themselves and to the badges of Canada they wear as epaulettes.

For many more, in many lands and at home, it has been a time of weary vigil against a foe who has not dared yet to come. To these men and to the women who serve in uniform with them, honor and gratitude are also due. For theirs, not less than the others, is the willingness to serve and, if necessary, give their lives.

Twenty-five years ago, the fathers of these young men and women returned from another war in which they brought new lustre and new meaning to the name of Canada and won for us the right of nationhood.

So, too, will these young men and women return with Victory in their knapsacks. For they are of the valiant breed, the unconquerable breed of Canada.

Vacations by the Sea

Blue sky . . . . and the blue Atlantic breaking into white surf along the silver sand . . . . gull wings in the sunlight, gull cries in the wind and the shouts of children splashing . . . . There are 90 miles of beaches along the northern shore of Prince Edward Island, facing the Gulf of St. Lawrence . . . . 25 of them in the new national park . . . . The whole island, indeed, is a summer playground . . . . white with sand, green with gardens and golf courses, red with rich soil and blue with the girdling sea and the sky . . . . Cape Breton Highlands National Park, in the northern section of Nova Scotia, is another new sanctuary of rest and refreshment . . . . Its mountains and its rugged shoreline remind you of Scotland . . . . You can be lazy and just look at dramatic scenery, or you can do rugged things like deep sea fishing . . . . In Nova Scotia, too, Bras d'Or, the enchanting inland sea . . . . the salmon pools of the Margaree . . . . the swordfishing centres . . . . and Pictou Lodge, headquarters for summer sports on land and water . . . . The largest of Canada's three Maritime Provinces is New Brunswick, bordered by Maine and Quebec, washed by Fundy's tides and the waters of Northumberland Strait and the Baie des Chaleurs . . . belted by delightful beaches and rocky shores . . . . covered with fruitful farmlands and forests alive with game . . . . Acadia was in these Maritimes and Acadia might well be Arcadia, the idyllic land . . . .
