PROPER CARE OF HAND-KNITTED WEAR

WASHING THE GARMENT

1. Before washing spread garment out flat on a piece of paper. Draw outline of garment on the paper.
2. Make a good suds of Lux soap flakes thoroughly dissolved in lukewarm water. Do not rub soap on the garment. Squeeze garment gently in the water. If garment is very soiled repeat in fresh suds. Rinse out all soap in two or three baths of lukewarm water.
3. Squeeze out most of the water. Do not wring. When squeezing has taken out most of the water, stretch garment into shape of the outline made before washing. Lay on a bath towel or blanket near a heat radiator and leave to dry. While drying keep garment stretched to correct size. Do not dry in intense heat or cold.

CAUTION—We recommend good quality soap flakes without the use of water softeners. Use only lukewarm water. Rinse thoroughly. Dry quickly. Do not place garment on radiator. Never hang garment up to dry as this spoils shape.

Washing Garments Where White is Used with Colors

White yarn will tend to draw some color from most dark-colored yarns in washing. This will not happen if the garment is thoroughly rinsed in two or three waters and all the surplus water squeezed out. The garment must be dried within two hours. If outdoor conditions are not favourable to quick drying—dry by artificial heat.

Pressing Finished Work

No garment made of yarn should ever be touched with a hot iron. This takes all the life and elasticity out of it. The correct method is to wet and wring out a clean cloth and spread on flat surface. Then lay garment flat, right side up, patting into shape. Pin firmly into desired shape. Cover with a dry cloth and allow to dry thoroughly.

HINTS TO KNITTERS

OUR DESIGNER has endeavoured to make the directions for the various models as simple as possible.

When making a garment from a Monarch book of instruction, always be sure to get the exact materials mentioned. This applies to needles or crochet hook, as the case may be, as well as to the actual wool. Other wools even of the same ply do not produce the same result.

As no two people work exactly the same, we recommend that before beginning any knitted garment you read over complete directions carefully so as to understand the correct procedure.

Work a piece about six inches square of the pattern selected and press it; then count the stitches and rows and see if the number corresponds with the tension mentioned in the directions. If you get more stitches to the inch than mentioned in the directions, use coarser needles than those suggested, if fewer, use finer needles.

Purchase sufficient wool at one time to complete garment and thus ensure uniformity of color.

To Change Sizes

This is done very simply by knowing your measurements. Then knit a swatch to make sure your tension is same as in directions. Then multiply the number of stitches per inch by the number of inches you wish any part of the garment increased in size and add the required number of stitches.

Watch your work as you proceed and be sure you decrease or increase to give your garment the correct size and shaping for the different parts.

Watch your shoulder width, depth of armhole and shape of neckline.
